Portland Business Alliance Honors Scott Andrews in Annual Business Leadership Evening

PORTLAND, Ore. — The Portland Business Alliance honored Scott Andrews, president, Melvin Mark Properties, at its annual Business Leadership Evening on October 27. Each year, the Alliance recognizes a member who has offered exceptional leadership and service to the Alliance in bettering the community. The award is given in the name of the late Bill Naito, whose work exemplified the values of community service, philanthropy and leadership.

Andrews, who currently serves as chair of the Portland Development Commission, was selected due to his tireless contributions to the Alliance, his leadership in forging to public-private partnerships and his long-time service on countless boards and commissions. “Scott is highly-regarded for his collaborative, thoughtful approach,” said Sandra McDonough, president and CEO of the Alliance. “Time and again, people turn to Scott to get the tough work done. His contributions to moving our city and region forward are significant.”

In addition to acknowledging Andrews, the Alliance also honored the legacy of the late architect Greg Baldwin, who is noted for his consensus-building approach to solving urban design challenges.
