

Since joining the company in 2006, Nick Ehlen has found a niche representing growing businesses in Portland's hottest, up-and-coming neighborhoods. With a bundle of high energy to match his clients' creative energy, Nick has an analytical side too. His clients prize his financial acumen and level-headed approach. Nick is a smart guy who has learned he doesn't have to have all the answers himself - at Melvin Mark, he's surrounded himself with a team of experts who work together to get the best deal for his clients.
