

Scott Andrews believes the foundation of Melvin Mark's success is its dedication to building solid relationships. "Both as a company and as a group of people, Melvin Mark believes strongly in the power of relationships. We've been successful because we're in it for the long haul. We establish relationships with tenants, landlords, other brokers, and vendors. We give tenants good working environments at reasonable prices and back that up with attentive high-quality services."

Scott Andrews, President
