

Profile

CRAIG LEWIS

Craig Lewis has been an integral part of Melvin Mark Development Company for more than 20 years. As senior project manager, he's been the steady hand behind a dozen projects valued at more than $100 million. Craig has an aptitude for business, a talent for innovative thinking and the confidence to find a solution to any problem. Although the development process can be long and slow, Craig knows the true reward comes from building a great team, taking a multi-million project from idea to opening and doing it well.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

A multi-dimensional real estate professional, Craig has experience in all facets of development. He is also the go-to in-house expert on economic analyses, project feasibility studies and project cost reporting. He has expertise in managing a variety of development projects from parking garages to downtown office buildings to suburban office parks, and prides himself on delivering each one on time and on budget. Currently, Craig is working on the new Blanchet House of Hospitality project and the Morrison Bridgehead project, which includes the new James Beard Public Market.
