Melvin Mark Names Peter Andrews as COO of Melvin Mark Companies

Portland commercial real estate company Melvin Mark Companies is pleased to announce that Peter Andrews has been appointed Chief Operating Officer of Melvin Mark Companies, effective September 1, 2023.

Melvin Mark has seen significant growth over the past five years. As COO, Peter will identify and define company strategies, processes, and goals that will help continue its growth and best serve its clients, partners, and employees in the future.

"Peter has led our brokerage and marketing teams since September 2018," says Jim Mark, CEO. "His leadership has helped transform our business model and he has been actively involved in the community for the greater good. Peter's work is recognized by his peers in business and the larger community. This change of title is in recognition of his work and tenure with the organization, as well as a change in responsibilities to be available externally to stakeholders when I may not be available. We have an incredible, talented team and Peter has done a phenomenal job elevating all our work to grow and support the company. Congratulations, Peter."

About Peter Andrews

Peter has 20 years of experience at Melvin Mark Companies delivering expert commercial real estate services to his clients while providing leadership to the brokerage and marketing teams. He has helped coordinate, plan, and assist in a variety of significant endeavors and will continue his role of Executive Vice President of Brokerage and Principal Broker while managing the day-to-day operations as COO.
